

Public Health Physical Activity Interventions KINS 7600

Credits: 3

Spring 2010

Course (Call)Number: KINS 7600 (79-591)

Time: 9:05-12:05, Wednesday

Location: Ramsey Room 115E

Instructor: Dr. Elaine Cress (mecress@uga.edu) 706-542-2202

This Course is designed to provide students with strong preparation for their future roles as leaders in physical activity and nutrition intervention for health promotion and disease prevention, through policy level approaches to physical activity and nutrition at local, state and national levels and nutrition interventions at the community level. In addition a class project with community partners involves a joint physical activity and nutrition community public health intervention. Examples of past partners include WellStar diabetes management, Athens Clarke County Public Health Department, City of Watkinsville, Mayor and City Commissioners.

Fulfills a 3 hour elective Gerontology Graduate Certificate. Enrollment in either of these programs is not a pre-requisite for taking this course.

College of Education Department Kinesiology

The University of Georgia