Karen A. Holbrook, Ph.D., is the Senior Advisor to the President at the University of South Florida (USF), where she was, until recently, the Senior Vice President for Global Affairs and International Research. Dr. Holbrook served as the President of The Ohio State University from 2002-2007 and prior to that was the Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost at the University of Georgia; Vice President for Research and Dean of the Graduate School at the University of Florida; and Associate Dean for Research and Professor of Biological Structure and Medicine at the University of Washington School of Medicine. Earlier in her career, Dr. Holbrook was a biomedical researcher, a funded NIH investigator, and an NIH MERIT Awardee. Her research focused on human fetal skin development and genetic skin disease. While she was Provost at our institution, she created the UGA Biomedical Initiative which was the starting point for numerous new programs in the health sciences at UGA, including the College of Public Health. Throughout her career she has served on many of the most significant higher education and research boards and has established herself as a consultant in health science education and commercialization for multiple clients nationally and internationally.
